Tools you will need

Cross-section · not to scale

1. Plan the position Mark the drain position. Make sure the floor can slope towards it (about 1 cm per metre).
2. Set the body Connect the drain body to the waste line and set it in mortar so the top sits at the finished tile level.
3. Waterproof Lap the waterproof membrane onto the drain flange so water cannot get under the tiles.
4. Tile Tile up to the drain with the slope towards it. Grout the joints.
5. Fit the grate and test Drop in the grate. Pour a bucket of water and check it drains without standing water.

6 How to use

Everyday use

1. Keep the grate in place so hair is caught on top.
2. Lift the grate to clean the trap regularly.

7 Care and cleaning

- ✓ Clean the floor drain surface regularly using mild soap and a soft cloth to maintain shine and hygiene.
- ✓ Avoid harsh acids, bleach, or abrasive scrubbers to protect the stainless steel finish.
- ✓ Remove and rinse the drain cover periodically to clear hair, debris, and soap residue.
- ✓ Ensure the drain holes remain unobstructed for smooth and fast water drainage.
- ✓ Check the drain fitting occasionally to ensure a stable and leak-free installation.
- ✓ Use clean or filtered water where possible to extend the life of the drain and maintain finish quality.

8 Troubleshooting

Problem	Likely cause	What to do
Slow drain	Hair and soap in the trap.	Lift the grate and clean the trap.
Bad smell	Trap has dried out.	Pour water into the drain to refill the trap.
Water stands near the drain	Floor slope not towards the drain.	The tiles need re-laying with the right slope.
